SOCO LUXURY TRENDS

ABOUT SHOREWOOD REAL ESTATE

Founded in 1969, Shorewood Real Estate has experienced steady growth over the past 50+ years. Acquired by the widely esteemed Lon Welsh of Your Castle Real Estate in 2017, Shorewood gained access to a tremendous team of managing brokers, data researchers, marketing professionals and more. This has elevated Shorewood Real Estate from an already premier position in the Colorado Springs market to a higher plateau of prestige and insight. We now proudly serve the entire Colorado Front Range, with offices in Denver, Colorado Springs, and Loveland.

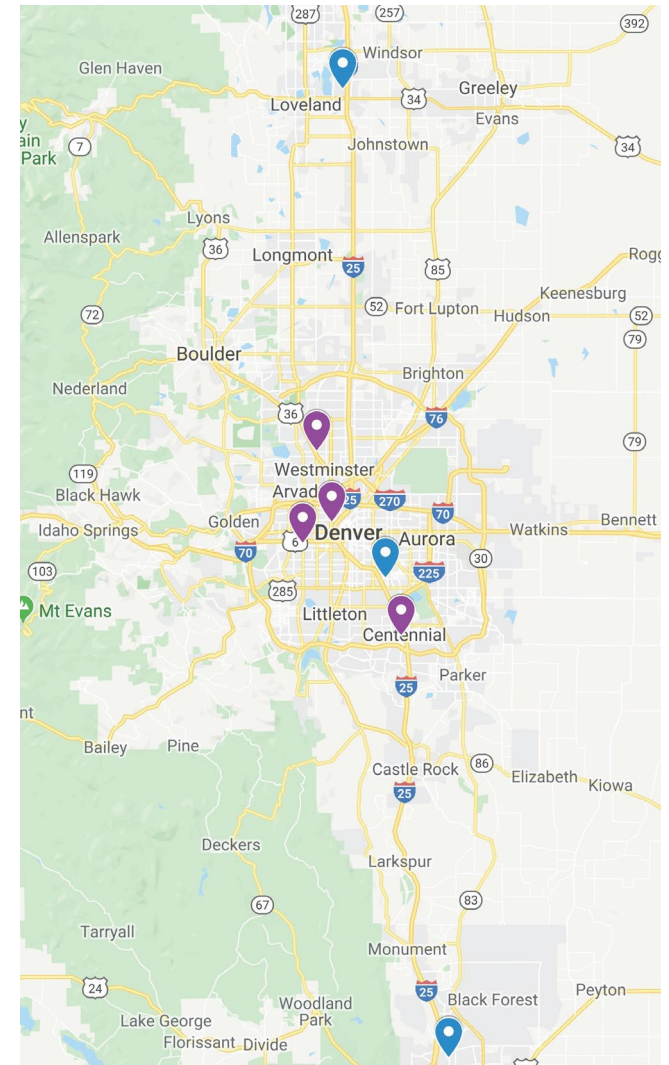

BROKERS & SALES ASSOCIATES

Shorewood Real Estate and its affiliates employ 700+ real estate agents in six offices across Colorado. We sold over $2 billion of real estate in 2019 and 2020, and conduct approximately 5,000 transactions per year. Our agents have access to a team of a dozen managing brokers who can help guide them through even the most complex transactions.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Investment in our community has always been an integral part of our company's mission. The brokerage gave $175,000 to local charities in 2020. We're a big sponsor for the Ronald McDonald House and Boys and Girls Clubs in Colorado. Since 2014, Shorewood Real Estate has also volunteered over 17,500 hours in the community.

Office Locations

Key messages for top 24 luxury neighborhoods (top 5% of detached SOCO market).

Appreciation continues to soar (29%) - even higher than the entire market average (19%)! Sales count, MOI and discount all indicate that the luxury market is going strong.

METRIC	PERFORMANCE		OBSERVATIONS
Average Home Price	1Q20 vs 1Q19: 2Q20 vs 2Q19: 3Q20 vs 3Q19: 4Q20 vs 4Q19: 1Q21 vs 1Q20:	+9% +10% +8% +14% +29%	Luxury home prices have been increasing Quarter over Quarter for more than a year. The average price in these 24 areas was $762,000 vs $428,000 for the entire market in the trailing twelve months. We expect slower luxury traffic in the second half of 2021. Homes that are not the first choice in any neighborhood, or secondary luxury neighborhoods may see modest price declines.
Number Sold	1Q20 vs 1Q19: 2Q20 vs 2Q19: 3Q20 vs 3Q19: 4Q20 vs 4Q19: 1Q21 vs 1Q20:	+62% -15% +78% +166% +47%	Units sold over Q2 decreased year over year due to COVID. But third quarter was incredibly strong across the front range, including COS luxury. The pattern continued as 2020 came to a close - finishing with two and half times as many sales as 19Q4! 2021 is continuing the same huge uptick in luxe sales.
DOM (Days on Market)	1Q20 vs 1Q19: 2Q20 vs 2Q19: 3Q20 vs 3Q19: 4Q20 vs 4Q19: 1Q21 vs 1Q20:	55 vs 89 34 vs 39 38 vs 48 46 vs 63 28 vs 55	It is taking just 28 DOM to get these luxury homes under contract, only HALF of the time than the same quarter last year. The overall market average decreased again, to 19 days. Naturally, larger homes require more marketing time to get under contract. Even so, marketing times are significantly lower than just last quarter.
MOI (Months of Inventory)	3Q20: 4Q20: 1Q21:	2.2 0.7 0.8	MOI varies quite a bit from one luxe area to the next. The lowest number of homes on the market is usually around the December holidays for this market segment - which was clearly evident in 2020. As demand for the entire metro area booms, the luxury segment is going right along with it (as opposed to lagging a bit behind).
Average Discount from Last Ask Price	1Q20: 2Q20: 3Q20: 4Q20: 1Q21:	-1.8% -0.7% -1.3% -1.2% -0.1%	Discounts on the high end usually run a little higher than that of the market average. The luxury market remains strong, as discounts for the rest of the market are nearly non-existent.

The SOCO market overall had 16,628 home sales in the prior twelve months. These 24 neighborhoods below represent the most expensive 5% of the neighborhoods we track (813 sales). The bottom of this chart highlights the top 10% of the market, or ALL homes over $625,000 (top 10% of overall DSF market).

The top 10% of SOCO's most expensive homes sell for $625,000 or more. Homes in different luxury home segments have different characteristics. As the average home price increases, the "lower-end luxury" market continues to grow in popularity among former non-luxury clients.

% OF SALES IN EACH PRICE SEGMENT

MONTHS OF INVENTORY BY SEGMENT

We can define the luxury market in two ways: 1) houses sold in neighborhoods that have an average sales price of $625k or greater, or 2) any house that sells at the top 10% of the market ($625k+). Does the neighborhood in which you're selling a luxury-priced home affect performance?

Marketing time (DOM) is nearly identical. For price, houses in the luxury neighborhoods will get about a 5% premium than the top 10% of sales in other neighborhoods. If most/all of your neighbors sell for a premium price, it seems to reinforce values better than having the one nice house in an average area.

SUMMARY FOR $625-755K SELLERS

- Days on market (DOM) - The gap between this price segment and the luxury average is not very wide.
- % that need $$ reduction - Over the past 12 months, best months: December and January.
- How pricing impacts DOM - Homes priced right when listed sell much faster (22 DOM) than homes that are initially overpriced and needed a price drop (76 DOM)
- Discounts are much smaller for homes that are priced right on day one (1.4% premium) vs. homes that need a price drop (4.6% discount)

SUMMARY FOR $755K+ SELLERS

- Statistics in this segment can skew and vary greatly due to the small sale count.
- Days on market (DOM) - lowest for homes listed in December and January.
- % that need price reduction - winter has been exceptional (Dec - Feb)
- How pricing impacts DOM - homes priced right when listed sell much faster (25 DOM) than homes that are initially overpriced and needed a price drop (94 DOM)
- Discounts are much smaller for homes that are priced right on day one (1.5% premium) vs. homes that need a price drop (6.4% discount)
- The difference in performance between properties that are priced correctly from the get-go versus those that need even one price reduction in the MLS is growing.

As with the entire real estate market, COVID cautions caused an unprecedented drop in April 2020, but showings bounced right back the very next month and have been above average for each respective month since. Denver and SOCO follow a similar pattern, with SOCO showings about 40% less than Denver.

The $1MM+ home showings trail the $650-1MM market by about 40-50%. But the showing traffic is usually very similar year over year. As with the entire real estate market, COVID cautions caused an unprecedented drop in April 2020, but showings bounced right back the very next month. 2020 started at high levels for all price segments.

Number of days on market (list to UC) by listing month. As we've seen before, the luxury market experiences more volatility than the rest of the market. Interestingly, the homes in the 20-40th percentile are performing better than the entry-level products.

Over 50% of homes over $450K needed reductions. Again, the homes in the “second tier” are performing the best, with only 23% needing a price reduction. The availability of “true” comps – the pricier homes have less direct property comparisons - might be part of the reason for this segment’s volatility.

Over the past 12 months, homes between $625K and $755k that were priced right at initial listing (e.g., did not require a price reduction) sold in 22 DOM. Mispriced homes (that required a reduction) needed 76 DOM, or 3.5x. It takes nearly 4x as long to market properties priced incorrectly in the $755k+ market.

Do you have to work at a “luxury” brokerage to get luxury listings ($625k+)?

TTM Listing Count

There are plenty of listings to go around.

- RE/MAX has the lion’s share of luxury listings in SOCO
- Keller Williams and The Platinum Group have the next largest pieces of the luxury pie
- Together, the top 6 brokerages in luxury listings make up 50% of the market. The other half are sold by small to mid-sized firms.
- Sotheby’s, the known “luxury” brand, does not even have 2% of the market

Data Source: PPAR MLS; SW analysis

An incredible phenomenon: agents are just as likely to list a low-cost property as they are luxury listings, at any experience level! Agents with 10-25yrs experience list twice as many houses as those with 3-10yrs experience, who list 3.5x what new agents do.*

NUMBER OF LISTINGS BY EXPERIENCE LEVEL

What buyer agents are successfully closing large deals?

BUY-SIDE TRANSACTIONS

- Agents with experience of 3-10yrs OR 25+ years have about the same share of the luxury market as they do the overall market.

- Not surprisingly, newer agents have twice the overall market share than they do that of the luxury purchases.

- Agents in the prime of their careers, 10-25yrs, outpace the luxury purchases of any other experience segment.

Note the pricing approach of “price high and we’ll consider a lower offer” works at +/- 15% when the home is over $900K. Under $900K, when the home is listed at about the right market price (within 5%), you’ll get an offer close to the asking price.

Jumbo mortgages aren't the cheapest anymore. The reversal is just one of the ways the coronavirus crisis has wreaked havoc on the mortgage market. The same force pushing most mortgage rates to record lows – investors piling into safe-haven assets like government bonds – has pushed jumbo loans out of favor, Orla McCaffrey (Wall Street Journal) reports.
